"I can feel Jane all around me... A really wonderful experience." Liz Buzza, Manitoba

"Jane Austen is perhaps the best known and best loved of Bath's many famous residents. She paid two long visits here towards the end of the eighteenth century and from 1801 to 1806 Bath was her home.

Her intimate knowledge of the city is reflected in two of her novels, 'Northanger Abbey' and 'Persuasion', which are largely set in Bath.

The city remains much as Jane Austen knew it; the

"Jane's history brought vividly to life."

Lindsay Alger, London

Costumed 'Characters' guide you through the experience.

- See the amazingly lifelike Jane Austen waxwork.
- Try your hand with authentic quill and ink.
- Get dressed up in our Regency costumes and have your photo taken.
- Taste Regency recipe food and drink.
- Hear entertaining anecdotes about Jane Austen.
- Watch a short film 'Jane Austen out and about in Bath'.
- Play a few Regency parlour games.

streets and buildings recalling the elegant, well-ordered world that she portrays so brilliantly in her novels. Now the pleasure of exploring Jane Austen's Bath can be enhanced by visiting the Jane Austen Centre. Here, in a Georgian town house in the heart of the city, the visitor can find out more about the importance of Bath in Jane Austen's life and work."

Maggie Lane Author

Throughout the experience there are exhibits that explore Jane's life in Bath, her family, places of residence and Bath society. You can learn about the main entertainments of the day; dancing, socialising, card games and tea drinking.
